WHAT THE CHAUTAUQUA IS
The Chautauqua is not a charity. It is helpful rather than needing help. It is not a fake. Combined in this list of attractions may be found several that would grace any American stage. The price is very low. The Intelligencer takes pleasure in giving its recommendation to this enterprise. It will leave a lasting impress on the community. It is cheerful, entertaining, pleasing and refining.

STORY OF THE CHAUTAUQUA.

More than fifty years ago at Lake Chautauqua, New York, was founded the original and first Chautauqua. The aim was purely a religious one, it being intended to provide a place to which people might come and while enjoying the pleasure of an outdoor outing, could also spend some time in inspirational study and quiet meditation. Since then the movement has become nation wide, developing through the old time camp meeting, temperance Chautauqua and finally evolving into its present day form, the great circuit Chautauqua.

Today the Chautauqua is one of the most potent educational forces, next to the schools and colleges, which we have. Truly, Mr. Roosevelt, was right when he said, "The Chautauqua is the most American of all our institutions." It is originally so, it breathes in all its being the spirit of our people and their love of truth.

It has no false ideals. It stands for the truth, for the highest in manhood and womanhood, for love of country, home and school. It seeks to uplift, to provide not only high class entertainment but to give something which all may take into their lives and keep and which they will be the better for having seen and heard. If the Chautauqua will enable people to think a little better, to love a little better, to read better books, to see better plays, to have a little higher ideals, then it accomplishes the purpose for which it was created, and only as it does this can it live and grow. That it is doing this is evidenced by the enormous growth of the circuit Chautauqua.

Today the people of the country over are looking forward to Chautauqua week as a time when they may forget for a little while the ordinary routine of every day life and refresh themselves with new thoughts and inspirations for the year of the year. It is a time when one meets his fellows and his neighbors on a common ground. It is a harbinger of goodwill and best and greatest of all good citizenship, the citizenship upon which this country depends for its future greatness.

Truly, Chautauqua week should be one of the greatest weeks in the year to be looked forward to and the lessons and details taught remembered and thought upon long afterwards.

CASH AND CREDIT

The wholesaler in buying from the manufacturer, if it is within his resources, takes advantage of discounts for cash or of payment inside of a specified date. The thrifty retailer, when he purchases from a wholesale house, watches his bills and gets the benefit of discounts. But when the retailer comes to pass his wares long to the ultimate consumer he has one price only, whether the customer pays cash or takes his commodities on credit. The injustice of this practice is evident on its face. The cash customer supplies liquid capital for the grocer, merchant, butcher, tailor, etc., and is penalized indirectly by making good the losses incurred in extension of credit to persons who either cannot or will not pay, or the painfully slow about it.

The credit system is the bane of business life and in many instances is the demoralization of the patron. Of course it cannot be wholly abolished. To do that would impose hardship upon innumerable worthy folk. But the wonder is that dealers do not undertake to minimize it instead of employing devices to expand and encourage it. They make a victim of the cash customer. The just method would be to allow discount for cash, fixing prices accordingly and with the necessary respect to credit allowances. If there was a shading in prices for cash the immediate result would be to discourage unnecessary extensions of credit.

more promptly. As it is the system which permits one customer to run up an enormous bill, which may or may not be paid eventually, while charging exactly the same figure over the counter for cash, to the man or woman who pays on the spot without demur, evasion or delay, is not defensible. No merchant will pay as much in cash for the same goods as he demanded of his neighbor who requires time to meet his obligations. Discounts are followed with vigilance and propriety. Why, therefore, should the customer who pays cash not be treated with equal consideration?

PROPOSES STATE FORAGE CROP DAY

W. W. Long of Clemson College Suggests Clover and Vetch Campaign

A plan is on foot to have a clover and vetch day among the farmers of the State. On this day, which has not yet been named, it is urged that all farmers meet and discuss the advisability of planting clover and vetch, and set aside two weeks to seeding these important crops.

"Last year," said W. W. Long, head of the farm demonstration work in South Carolina, yesterday, "without any definite and concerted action, farmers in this state planted about 100,000 of clover and vetch. The idea of having a clover and vetch day this year was suggested by the wonderful success of last year, and I believe that we can set 500,000 acres this year, as the interest already manifested this year has been very great.

"The farmers will be asked to meet at the county court houses on the day appointed and discuss the ways and means of seeding the largest clover and vetch crop in the history of the State. At this meeting the farmers will be requested to set aside two weeks for the purpose of devoting their entire time and attention to the seeding of these important crops. With the aid of all the forces in the state, education, demonstration work, health officials, country preachers, and the press, I feel certain that a remarkable record will be set."

"I have made arrangements," Mr. Long continued, "where seeds can be obtained now at a cents a pound. The seed comes from Germany, and farmers are requested to communicate with me. I have also secured a form of lime that can be purchased at 60 cents a ton. This lime has been recommended by Dr. Cyril Hopkins of this State."

There has long been a dispute over the exact date of his birth, but April 23 is generally conceded to be the correct date for celebration. It was planned to hold ceremonies at Stratford-on-Avon. Germany and America are not far behind in honoring his memory, especially in the public schools. The picture shows Shakespeare's best known portrait and his home at Stratford-on-Avon.

DETECTIVE CALLS FRANK INNOCENT

Motion For New Trial Alleges Evidence Shows Negro Killed Girl

(By Associated Press.)

Atlanta, April 22.—That M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Phagan, is not a pervert and is innocent of the murder for which he has been convicted, is the substance of a report made public today by the chief of a national detective agency who has been investigating the case for several weeks. The detective was employed by friends of Frank after the latter's conviction. The report asserts that Mary Phagan was killed by a "pervert of homicidal tendencies of the most pronounced type," and charges a negro formerly employed at the National Penitentiary as a sweeper, with the crime.

The hearings on the extraordinary motion for a new trial on account of newly discovered evidence, and the motion to set aside the verdict in the case because Frank was not in court when it was read, today were postponed. Both were to have been heard before the superior court this morning, but on account of a death in the family of counsel for the motion, postponement was made. The extraordinary motion will be heard tomorrow, and the motion to set aside the verdict will be heard Friday, May 1.
